Projects

Sentinel

- An application designed for you to be a part of or create a group where all members can track their current locations.
- Using the Expo CLI, I was in charge of utilizing the Google Maps API as well as Expo Locations and Permissions in order to create the map, map markers, waypoints, regions, and grabbing the users current locations.

Skills Used: React Native, JavaScript, CSS3, Expo, JWT, Figma, Node.js, MySQL, Sequelize, Express.js

A.L.F.R.E.D (VSI Hackathon)

- This project was used to compete in the Visual Storage Intelligence Hackathon hosted in February 2020. The use case was for automated emails to be sent to clients including their data storage capacities, trends and max capacity estimated date using AI.
- I contributed by using TensorFlow.js to use Linear Regression in order to predict a max storage capacity timeframe.
- My team !False was awarded first place in the hackathon.

Quiz Me

- A quiz game using the JService API creating one daily quiz that you can take with your signed in account and displaying a leaderboard of everyone who has taken the same quiz that day.
- I contributed by assisting in the design of the Front End, the logic for the quiz game and the backend logic of the game by using the JService API to create the questions and answers.

Skills Used: HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript, jQuery, Bootstrap 4, Node.js and MySQL
